Hooper, Lundy & Bookman (HLB), is pleased to announce that it has been retained to serve as Outside General Counsel to the American Health Care Association \(AHCA\), effective July 1, 2025.

HLB Managing Shareholder Mark Reagan will lead the firm's work in this role, continuing his longstanding service to the long-term and post-acute care community. Reagan has been actively working with AHCA on key legal and policy matters, and this appointment formalizes and expands HLB's role as a trusted advisor to the association.

AHCA is the nation's leading advocacy organization for long-term and post-acute care providers, representing more than 15,000 member facilities and organizations nationwide.

Mark Reagan also serves as General Counsel to the California Association of Health Facilities and the Massachusetts Senior Care Association—both valued AHCA affiliate organizations—reflecting the firm's trusted role within the long-term care and post-acute community nationwide.

"HLB is honored to serve as Outside General Counsel to AHCA, whose critical work supports the providers caring for some of the most vulnerable populations in our health care system," said Reagan. "We look forward to advancing AHCA's mission and supporting its members through trusted legal counsel and a shared commitment to quality care."

HLB's representation of AHCA will be backed by a nationally recognized team with deep experience in long-term and post-acute care, reimbursement, regulatory compliance, and health care litigation—positioning the firm to provide comprehensive, strategic guidance on the issues that matter most to AHCA and its members.
