

NHELP Webinars Provide Training on Medicaid and Access to Health Care

Health Equity

06.18.25

The National Health Law Program (NHeLP) is hosting several webinars this summer, including one on July 24, that will provide an overview of immigrants' rights to access health care (register here). This webinar will include resources to help determine immigrant eligibility for Medicaid and other health programs. NHeLP also previously hosted webinars on other topics related to health care (available here), including a webinar on health equity with a particular focus on social determinants of health and their relevance to Medicaid and other safety net programs (recording and slides are available here).
