The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) has announced the establishment of a new organizational component, the Office of Health Technology and Products (OHTP), effective June 9, 2026. OHTP is intended to provide enterprise-wide leadership and oversight of CMS's health care technology modernization efforts, as well as the development and management of digital products supporting Medicare, Medicaid, the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP), and other CMS-administered programs. The office will operate in coordination with the CMS Chief Information Officer (CIO).

OHTP will include several functional components, including the Open Source Program Group, the Standards & Interoperability Group, the Product Development Group, and Digital Services at CMS. This organizational change aligns with the Administration's broader efforts to accelerate the digital transformation of CMS and modernize the agency's technology infrastructure.
