

Sandi Krul

HOOPER, LUNDY & BOOKMAN P.C. LOS ANGELES | HEALTH CARE, REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

rul is a leader in the health skilled nursing facility. care real estate practice at of the largest law firms nationally to only represent health care providers. She regularly oversees multimillion-dollar real estate transactions for hospitals and other clients.

half of all the hospital transactions in California funded by the federal Department of Housing and Urban create and implement a Street Development in the past decade.

Health care real estate deals are care to the homeless. not always straightforward, she said. "There's a regulatory overlay to health care real estate that makes it a little bit fraught if you don't know opposed to having them come to what you're doing," Krul said.

providers all over the state, including a number of rural hospitals, for which she often serves as outside general of defining the street program in that you do - they just make all the counsel. She has helped lease or acquire facilities in outlying areas health care licensing categories. for clinics, a surgery center and a Closer to home, she served as lead Hooper Lundy, which is one counsel last year for a privately held health care management company in its $24.25 million acquisition of an acute-care psychiatric hospital.

Some of her work does not involve real estate. She often represents Among those deals are nearly MLK Community Healthcare system and its clinics and outreach programs. Krul is helping the system Medicine program to deliver health

"It's providing medical care, but tracts for the system to establish a in the community, in the streets, going to where they need the care as nent housing. you," she said. Krul negotiated with Krul practiced more typical real es-She represents hospitals and other another provider offering a similar program on ways to work together. She also dealt with the complexities terms that aligned with California

Also, for MLK, Krul negotiated con-

shelter for patients without perma-

Before joining her current firm, tate law. She likes the healthcare specialty much better. "The people that you work with and the work difference," she said.

- DON DEBENEDICTIS